Dear _____ :

This is in response to a ruling request dated April 21, 2005, as supplemented by additional information dated July 12, 18, and 28, August 4, and 10, 2005, and January 12, 2006, from your authorized representative, in which you request relief under section 301.9100-3 of the Procedure and Administration Regulations ("Regulations").

The following facts and representations have been submitted:

Taxpayer A is married to Taxpayer B. Taxpayer A maintained IRA S sponsored by Company I, and Taxpayer B maintained IRA T sponsored by Company I, traditional individual retirement accounts under section 408(a) of the Internal Revenue Code ("Code"). In _____, Taxpayer A consulted his financial advisor at Company I about converting his traditional IRA to a Roth IRA. The financial advisor erroneously believed that the modified adjusted gross income ("AGI") limit for conversions to be the same as the limit for making contributions to a Roth IRA. Believing Taxpayer A and B's income was below such modified AGI limit for conversions under section 408A(c)(3)(B), on _____, the financial advisor transferred the account balance (Amount M) in Taxpayer A's IRA S to Roth IRA X.

On _____, Taxpayer B opened Roth IRA Y, sponsored by Company I, and made a regular contribution of Amount N, to Roth IRA Y, for the _____ tax year. On _____, Taxpayer B's account balance (Amount O) in IRA T was converted to Roth IRA Y. At this time, Taxpayers A and B believed they had successfully converted Taxpayer A's traditional IRA to a Roth IRA in _____ and were unaware that they were ineligible to convert Taxpayer B's traditional IRA to a Roth IRA in _____.

Roth IRAs X and Y are subject to Code section 408A. For the _____ taxable year, Taxpayers A and B had modified AGI of Amount P, and for the _____ taxable year, modified AGI of Amount Q. The modified AGI limit under section 408A(c)(3)(B) for converting a traditional IRA to a Roth IRA is $ _____. Since the modified AGI of Taxpayers A and B exceeded the limit for conversions during the _____ and _____ tax years, the conversions were improper. Taxpayers A and B relied on their financial advisor at Company I, and representatives of Company J who prepared their 2002 and _____ tax returns, to advise them of this limit and the _____ deadline of each year to recharacterize the failed Roth IRA conversions back to traditional IRAs.

Taxpayers A and B's tax return for the _____ taxable year is currently under examination for issues unrelated to the above failed conversions.

Based on the foregoing facts and representations, you have requested the following ruling: that, pursuant to section 301-9100-3 of the Regulations, Taxpayers A and B are granted a period not to exceed 60 days from the date of this ruling to recharacterize failed conversions Roth IRA X, and Roth IRA Y (less amounts representing Taxpayer B's 2002 contribution) to traditional IRAs.

With respect to your request for relief under section 301.9100-3 of the Regulations, Code section 408A(d)(6) and section 1.408A-5 of the federal Income Tax Regulations (the "I.T. Regulations") provide that, except as otherwise provided by the Secretary, a taxpayer may elect to recharacterize an IRA contribution made to one type of IRA as having been made to another type of IRA by making a trustee-to-trustee transfer of the IRA contribution, plus earnings, to the other type of IRA. In a recharacterization, the IRA contribution is treated as having been made to the transferee IRA and not the transferor IRA. Under section 408A(d)(6) and section 1.408A-5, this recharacterization election generally must occur on or before the date prescribed by law, including extensions, for filing the taxpayer's Federal Income Tax Returns for the year of contributions.

Section 1.408A-5, Q&A-2(c)(1) of the I.T. Regulations provides, in effect, that if the amount of the contribution being recharacterized was contributed to a Roth IRA and distributions or additional contributions have been made from or to that IRA at any time, then the net income attributable to the amount of a contribution being recharacterized is determined by allocating to the contribution a pro-rata portion of the earnings on the assets in the IRA during the period the IRA held the contribution. This attributable net income is calculated by using the following formula: $\text{Net Income} = \text{Contribution} \times (\text{Adjusted Closing Balance} - \text{Adjusted Opening Balance}) / \text{Adjusted Opening Balance}$. The items in the above formula are defined in section 1.408A-5, Q&A-2(c)(2) of the I.T. Regulations.

Section 1.408A-5, Q&A-6 of the I.T. Regulations, describes how a taxpayer makes the election to recharacterize the IRA contribution. To recharacterize an amount that has been converted from a traditional IRA to a Roth IRA: (1) the taxpayer must notify the Roth IRA trustee of the taxpayer's intent to recharacterize the amount, (2) the taxpayer must provide the trustee (and the transferee trustee, if different from the transferor trustee) with specified information that is sufficient to effect the recharacterization, and (3) the trustee must make the transfer.

Code section 408A(c)(3) provides, in relevant part, that an individual with adjusted gross income in excess of $100,000 for a taxable year is not permitted to make a qualified rollover contribution to a Roth IRA from an individual retirement plan other than a Roth IRA during that taxable year.

Section 1.408A-4, Q&A-2, of the I.T. Regulations provides, in summary, that an individual with modified adjusted gross income in excess of $100,000 for a taxable year is not permitted to convert an amount to a Roth IRA during that taxable year. Section 1.408A-4, Q&A-2, further provides, in summary, that an individual and his spouse must file a joint Federal Tax Return to convert a traditional IRA to a Roth IRA, and that the modified adjusted gross income (AGI) subject to the $100,000 limit for a taxable year is the modified AGI derived from the joint return using the couple's combined income.

Section 301.9100-1, 301.9100-2, and 301.9100-3 of the Procedure and Administration Regulations, in general, provide guidance concerning requests for relief submitted to the Service on or after December 31, 1997. Section 301.9100-1(c) provides that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in his discretion, may grant a reasonable extension of the time fixed by a regulation, a revenue ruling, a revenue procedure, a notice, or an announcement published in the Internal Revenue Bulletin for the making of an election or application for relief in respect of tax under, among others, Subtitle A of the Code.

Section 301.9100-2 of the Regulations lists certain elections for which automatic extensions of time to file are granted. Section 301.9100-3 generally provides guidance with respect to the granting of relief with respect to those elections not referenced in section 301.9100-2. The relief requested in this case is not referenced in section 301.9100-2.

Section 301.9100-3 of the Regulations provides that applications for relief that fall within section 301.9100-3 will be granted when the taxpayer provides sufficient evidence (including affidavits described in section 301.9100-3(e)(2)) to establish that (1) the taxpayer acted reasonably and in good faith, and (2) granting relief would not prejudice the interests of the Government.

Section 301.9100-3(b)(1) of the Regulations provides that a taxpayer will be deemed to have acted reasonably and in good faith (i) if its request for section 301.9100-1 relief is filed before the failure to make a timely election is discovered by the Service; (ii) if the taxpayer inadvertently failed to make the election because of intervening events beyond the taxpayer's control; (iii) if the taxpayer failed to make the election because, after exercising reasonable diligence, the taxpayer was unaware of the necessity for the election; (iv) the taxpayer reasonably relied upon the written advice of the Service; or (v) the taxpayer reasonably relied on a qualified tax professional, including a tax professional employed by the taxpayer, and the tax professional failed to make, or advise the taxpayer to make, the election.

Section 301.9100-3(c)(1)(ii) of the temporary Regulations provides that ordinarily the interests of the Government will be treated as prejudiced and that ordinarily the Service will not grant relief when tax years that would have been affected by the election had it been timely made are closed by the statute of limitations before the taxpayer's receipt of a ruling granting relief under this section.

In this case, the adjusted gross income of Taxpayers A and B exceeded $ for tax years and . Thus Taxpayer A was ineligible to convert Amount M from traditional IRA S to Roth IRA X in and Taxpayer B was ineligible to convert Amount O from traditional IRA T to Roth IRA Y in . However, Taxpayers A and B were unaware they were ineligible to convert their traditional IRAs to Roth IRAs until they discovered they were ineligible during a review of their and tax returns in . Their modified AGI for the and tax years exceeded the $ limit under Code section 408(A)(c)(3)(B). Taxpayers A and B filed this request for section 301.9100 relief shortly after discovering that they were ineligible to make the conversions and before the Service discovered their failure to make a timely election to recharacterize the failed conversions.

With respect to Taxpayers A and B request for relief, we believe that, based on the information submitted and the representations contained herein, the requirements of sections 301.9100-1 and 301.9100-3 of the Regulations have been met, and that Taxpayers A and B acted reasonably and in good faith with respect to making the election to recharacterize the failed conversions as traditional IRAs. Specifically, the Service has concluded that Taxpayers A and B have met the requirements of clauses (i) and (iii) of section 301.9100-3(b)(1) of the Regulations. Therefore, Taxpayers A and B are granted an extension of 60 days from the date of the issuance of this letter ruling to so recharacterize. The ruling only applies to amounts converted from traditional IRAs to Roth IRAs and not any regular contributions to a Roth IRA.

No opinion is expressed as to the tax treatment of the transaction described herein under the provisions of any other section of either the Code or regulations which may be applicable thereto.

This ruling is based on the assumption that IRAs S and T and Roth IRAs X and Y meet the requirements Code sections 408 and 408A, respectively, at all relevant times.

This ruling is directed only to the taxpayer who requested it. Code section 6110(k) provides that it may not be used or cited by others as precedent.

Copies of this ruling have been sent to your authorized representatives pursuant to a power of attorney on file in this office.
