Putting Service First

for Small Businesses and Self-Employed Taxpayers

Small businesses and self-employed taxpayers have a right to receive top quality service from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). This means getting help in understanding and filing tax returns, receiving fast and accurate assistance, and getting professional, courteous treatment in all your interactions with IRS personnel. It also means having confidence in the integrity and fairness of the tax system and knowing that everyone is paying their fair share as required by law.

IRS acknowledges that it has a responsibility to provide service as effectively as any high-quality private or public organization. To provide top quality services, we are undergoing fundamental changes, guided by best practices proven in the business sector. We are revamping our business practices, changing our organizational structure around our customer segments, developing balanced measures, clarifying management roles, and modernizing our technology.

Our commitment to small business means we are working to understand and solve problems from YOUR point of view through open, honest communications, with total integrity, by managers that are accountable to YOU. At the cornerstone is a new centralized Small Business and Self-Employed Operating Division that will be fully responsible for all your tax administration needs.

We expect to establish the new operating division in late 2000, but are already improving services for YOU.

IRS Services and Free Information

Assistance

- Small Business Administration (SBA) Business Information Centers (BICs) - The IRS and SBA have entered into an agreement to support the small business community by distributing key IRS business tax forms and publications in all 57 BIC sites and 17 One Stop Capital Shops. In addition, the IRS is piloting a program where IRS tax specialists will provide one-on-one assistance at selected BIC locations in Los Angeles, Chicago, Boston and Atlanta. For more information, contact your local IRS office in these cities and ask for the Taxpayer Education Coordinator.
- Y2K Alert for Small Businesses - The IRS, SBA, and other federal agencies are working together to educate small businesses and the self-employed about Y2K. IRS' Web site at www.irs.ustreas.gov/prod/bus_info/sm_bus/news.html has important information about Y2K as does the Department of Commerce's National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) Web site at www.y2khelp.nist.gov.
- Magnetic Media/Information Reporting Seminars for Forms 1099, W-2 and 941 - These seminars are jointly sponsored by the IRS and the Social Security Administration (SSA) to provide information on how to properly file on magnetic media. For more information, contact your local IRS office and ask for the Taxpayer Education Coordinator.

- Small Business Tax Workshops - Through a unique partnership between the IRS and local organizations, workshops are available on topics including starting a business, recordkeeping, preparing business tax returns, self-employment tax issues, employment taxes, and other tax aspects of running your business. Ask your local IRS Taxpayer Education Coordinator about the workshops.

IRS e-file Program and Payment Options for Small Businesses

IRS e-file programs offer paperless filing, more convenient filing, faster processing with increased accuracy, and confirmation of filing for small business owners.

- 941TeleFile is an e-file option for qualified businesses. It is an interactive computer program designed to electronically file Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return," using a Touch-Tone telephone. Qualified businesses can call the toll-free number, follow the voice prompts, and the TeleFile system calculates the tax liability or any overpayment and begins the electronic filing process.

- 941 e-file accepts and processes Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return," in Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) format. It conducts security checks, sends electronic acknowledgments and builds records to be processed by current IRS computer systems. The returns are transmitted nationwide via dial-up phone lines and menu driven software directly to the IRS where they are processed at the Tennessee Computing Center (TCC) and the Austin Service Center (AUSC). For more information, you may call the IRS e-file help desk. At the TCC, call (901) 546-2690 (Ext. 7519), 7:00a.m.-3:30p.m. Central Standard Time, or at the AUSC, call (512) 460-8900, 7:30a.m.-3:30p.m. Central Standard Time. These are not toll-free calls.
- Electronic Federal Tax Payment System (EFTPS) is quickly becoming the easiest way for businesses to make their federal tax payments. You will find EFTPS is easy to use, convenient, accurate, fast and economical. It offers taxpayers the convenience of making their federal tax payments directly by phone or personal computer (PC) or through their financial institution. No special equipment is required to use EFTPS, and if a taxpayer wishes to use a PC, free Windows-based software is available. For more information and an enrollment form, you may call EFTPS Customer Service at 1-800-945-8400 or 1-800-555-4477; for TTY/TDD, call 1-800-945-8900 or 1-800-733-4829; and for Español, call 1-800-945-8600 or 1-800-244-4829.

The IRS Office of Public Liaison and Small Business Affairs

Through a national liaison program, the office maintains daily contact and exchanges information with the IRS' external stakeholders: national organizations representing tax practitioners, payroll processors, volunteer and social services, electronic commerce, state departments of revenue, small business organizations, and large corporate taxpayers.

As a "one stop" vehicle to exchange information, the office does the following:

- Works with our external and internal stakeholders to identify partnering opportunities;
- Provides a forum for new ideas and external feedback;
- Tracks emerging issues and shares information with our external and internal stakeholders;
- Coordinates liaison meetings for external stakeholders; and
- Coordinates IRS participation at stakeholder meetings and conferences.

Contact us if you have suggestions for the IRS regarding tax laws or administration.

Small Businesses with Tax Problems

Individual tax problems should be handled by contacting your local IRS office or the office that mailed you a notice or other correspondence. When IRS employees recognize a problem that has not been resolved through normal channels, they can refer it to the Taxpayer Advocate's Problem Resolution Program (PRP), which has the authority to cut through red tape. Your local Taxpayer Advocate can offer you special help if you have a significant hardship as a result of a tax problem. For more information, call toll free at 1-877-777-4778 (1-800-829-4059 for TTY/TDD users). For more information about the Taxpayer Advocate's PRP, and for a list of PRP addresses, call 1-800-829-3676, and ask for Publication 1546, The Problem Resolution Program of the IRS. For more information visit their Web site at www.irs.ustreas.gov/prod/ind_info/advocate.html.

Many times, you can find answers to your tax questions by reading tax publications and related forms. But when you need more information, you can call the IRS at 1-800-829-1040 for assistance.

Small Business Administration Programs and Services

Advocacy

The Office of Advocacy at the Small Business Administration helps to ensure that Congress and all federal agencies are aware of the needs of small business when they propose and consider new laws or regulations. If you would like to make sure your voice is heard or if you just want more information, call the Office of Advocacy at (202) 205-6533, or visit their Web site at www.sba.gov/advo.

The Small Business and Agriculture Regulatory Enforcement Ombudsman and 10 Regional Fairness Boards were established to receive comments from small businesses about federal agencies' enforcement actions. The Ombudsman will annually evaluate the enforcement activities of each agency and rate its responsiveness to small business. If you wish to comment on the interactions with IRS, call 1-888-REG-FAIR.

On the Internet

The SBA Web site offers detailed information on SBA and other business services, and links to outside resources on the World Wide Web. For more information visit them at www.sba.gov.

For More Information

The SBA has offices located throughout the United States. For the one nearest you, look under "U.S. Government" in your telephone directory, or call the SBA Answer Desk at 1-800-U-ASK-SBA. The Answer Desk will address your questions about starting or running a business and how to get assistance. To send a fax to the SBA, dial (202) 205-7064.
