

Instructions for Form 4768

(Rev. August 2003)

Application for Extension of Time To File a Return and/or Pay U.S. Estate (and Generation-Skipping Transfer) Taxes

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

General Instructions

Note: If you are applying for an extension for Form 706-A or 706-D, substitute “qualified heir” (or “trustee/designated filer” for Form 706-QDT) for “executor” in these instructions unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

A Change To Note

Three lines have been added to Part IV, Extension of Time to Pay (sec. 6161). Make sure to read these lines and to check the appropriate box, if applicable.

Purpose of Form

Use Form 4768 for the following purposes:

- To apply for an automatic 6-month extension of time to file Form 706, United States Estate (and Generation Skipping Transfer) Tax Return (Part II of Form 4768).
- To apply for a discretionary (i.e., for cause) extension of time to file Form 706 (Part II of Form 4768), Form 706-NA, United States Estate (and Generation-Skipping Transfer) Tax Return, Estate of nonresident not a citizen of the United States, Form 706-A, United States Additional Estate Tax Return, Form 706-D, United States Additional Estate Tax Return Under Code Section 2057, or Form 706-QDT, Estate Tax Return for Qualified Domestic Trusts, (Part III of Form 4768).
- To apply for an extension of time to pay estate (or GST) tax under section 6161 (Part IV of Form 4768).

Who May File

An executor filing Form 706 or Form 706-NA for a decedent's estate may file Form 4768 to apply for an extension of time to file under section 6081 and/or an extension of time to pay the estate tax under section 6161. See the instructions for Form 706 or 706-NA for a definition of “executor.” If there is more than one executor, only one is required to sign Form 4768.

Also, an authorized attorney, certified public accountant, enrolled agent, or agent holding power of attorney may use this form to apply for an extension of time on behalf of the executor.

A qualified heir who is filing Form 706-A or Form 706-D, or a trustee/designated filer filing Form 706-QDT may use Form 4768 to request an extension of time to file the return and/or pay the additional tax.

The form must be signed by the person filing the application. If filed by an attorney, certified public accountant, enrolled agent, or agent holding a power of attorney, check the appropriate box.

When To File

Automatic extension (Part II). If you are applying for an automatic 6-month extension of time to file Form 706, file Form 4768 by the original due date for Form 706.

Additional extension (Part II). An additional extension is available only if you are an executor out of the country.

If you have already received an automatic 6-month extension and are applying for an additional extension, file Form 4768 early enough to allow the IRS to consider the application and reply before the extended due date. If you have not received an automatic extension and you are applying for an extension of time to file Form 706 in excess of 6 months, you should file Form 4768 by the original due date for Form 706.

Extension for cause (Part II, III, or IV). If you are applying for an extension of time to file in Part III, file Form 4768 early enough to allow the IRS to consider the application and reply before the due date being extended.

If you have not filed an application for an automatic extension for Form 706 and the time for filing such an application has passed, file Form 4768 as soon as possible.

An application for an extension of time to pay estate tax applied for after the estate tax due date will generally not be considered by the IRS.

How To File

File a separate Form 4768 for each form for which you are requesting an extension. Circle the appropriate form number in the heading of Form 4768.

A separate Form 4768 is required to request an extension of time to pay:

- The tax due on the original Form 706, or
- The tax due as a result of an amended or supplemental Form 706, or
- The additional tax due as a result of the examination by the IRS of the Form 706.

File Form 4768 in duplicate. The IRS will return a copy to the executor. For automatic and other approved extensions, attach the copy to the return that is filed.

When requesting an extension of time to pay, do not send Form 4768 with Form 706. It must be mailed in a separate envelope to the Internal Revenue Service Center listed below under Where To File.

The return must be filed before the extension of time is up. It may not be amended after this time, although supplemental information may later be filed which may result in a different amount of tax.

Where To File

Forms 706, 706-A, 706-D, and 706-QDT. Except for overseas filers, file an extension request for all of these forms at the following address:

Internal Revenue Service Center

Form 706-NA and foreign address. File an extension request for Forms 706-NA and all other forms that have a foreign address for the executor at the following address:

Internal Revenue Service Center
Philadelphia, PA 19255

Private delivery services (PDSs). In addition to the United States mail, filers can use certain PDSs designated by the IRS to meet the “timely mailing as timely filing/paying” rule for tax returns and payments. The most recent list of designated PDSs was published by the IRS in September 2002. This list includes only the following:

- Airborne Express (Airborne): Overnight Air Express Service, Next Afternoon Service, and Second Day Service.
- DHL Worldwide Express (DHL): DHL “Same Day” Service, and DHL USA Overnight.
- Federal Express (FedEx): FedEx Priority Overnight, FedEx Standard Overnight, FedEx 2 Day, FedEx International Priority, and FedEx International First.
- United Parcel Service (UPS): UPS Next Day Air, UPS Next Day Air Saver, UPS 2nd Day Air, UPS 2nd Day Air A.M., UPS Worldwide Express Plus, and UPS Worldwide Express.

The private delivery service can tell you how to get written proof of the mailing date.

Interest

Interest must be paid on any estate and GST tax that is not paid in full by the original due date of the tax return, regardless of whether an extension of time to file and/or pay has been obtained.

Penalties

Penalties may be imposed for failure to file the estate (and GST) tax return within the extension period granted, or failure to pay the balance of the estate (and GST) tax due within the extension period granted.

Bond

If an extension of time to pay is granted, the executor may be required to furnish a bond.

Specific Instructions

Due Dates

The due date for Form 706 and Form 706-NA is 9 months after the date of the decedent’s death. If there is no numerically corresponding date in the 9th month, the due date is the last date of the 9th month. If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday, the return is due on the next business day.

Form 706-A is due 6 months after the taxable disposition or cessation of qualified use.

Form 706-D is due 6 months after the taxable disposition, cessation of material participation, or disqualifying act.

Part II, Extension of Time To File Form 706

Automatic extension. An executor may apply for an automatic 6-month extension of time to file Form 706 by checking the designated box and completing the form as instructed. Keep a copy of the form for your records.

Note: An extension of time to file does not extend the time to pay.

Additional extension. If you are an executor out of the country, you can apply for an additional extension of time to file. Check the designated box, complete the form as instructed, and attach the statement described in Part II.

You should apply for an automatic 6-month extension and then apply for any additional extension. You may apply for an extension of more than 6 months on the initial Form 4768, but none of the requested extension will be granted under the automatic extension provisions. If you are applying for an extension in excess of 6 months on the initial Form 4768, do not check the box for the automatic extension. You cannot combine an application for an automatic extension and an additional extension on the same Form 4768.

Applications both for an additional extension following an automatic extension and for an initial extension of more than 6 months should be filed early enough to give the IRS time to consider the application and reply before the due date.

Extension for cause. Under regulations section 20.6081-1(c), an executor who failed to timely apply for an automatic 6-month extension of time to file Form 706 may still apply for an extension upon a showing of good and sufficient cause. If you are applying for an extension for cause, check the designated box, complete the form as instructed, and attach the statement described in Part II. Unless the executor is out of the country, the requested extension cannot be for more than 6 months from the original due date of Form 706.

If Form 706 is not required to be filed after extension of time to file has been approved. If an extension of time to file has been approved and it is later determined that the estate is not required to file Form 706, you should notify, by letter, the Service Center that granted the extension that no return is required for the estate. Sending this letter should eliminate any further correspondence with the IRS. Please include with your letter a copy of the approved Form 4768 and the Estate’s Probate Inventory and Appraisalment.

Part III, Extension of Time To File Form 706-A, 706-D, 706-NA, or 706-QDT

The requested extension of time to file may not exceed 6 months unless the executor is out of the country.

The application must establish sufficient cause why it is impossible or impractical for the executor to file a reasonably complete return by the return due date.

Note: An extension of time to file does not extend the time to pay.

Part IV, Extension of Time To Pay (Section 6161)

An extension of time to pay (section 6161(a)(1)) may not exceed 12 months. A discretionary extension of time to pay for reasonable cause (section 6161(a)(2)) may not exceed 10 years. Different extension periods may apply to extensions of time granted for a deficiency, a section 6163 election (reversionary or remainder interest), or a section 6166 election (closely held business).

The application must establish why it is impossible or impractical for the executor to pay the full amount of the estate tax by the estate tax return due date. Examples of reasonable cause provided in section 20.6161-1 of the regulations include the following:

1. An estate includes sufficient liquid assets to pay the estate (and GST) tax when otherwise due. The liquid assets, however, are located in several jurisdictions and are not immediately subject to the control of the executor. Consequently, such assets cannot readily be collected by the executor even with reasonable effort.
2. An estate is comprised in substantial part of assets consisting of rights to receive payments in the future (e.g., annuities, copyright royalties, contingent fees, or accounts receivable). These assets provide insufficient present cash with which to pay the estate (and GST) tax when otherwise due and the estate cannot borrow against these assets except upon terms that would cause a loss to the estate.
3. An estate includes a claim to substantial assets which cannot be collected without litigation. Consequently, the size of the gross estate is unascertainable at the time the tax is otherwise due.
4. An estate does not have sufficient funds (without borrowing at a rate of interest higher than that generally available) with which to pay the entire estate (and GST) tax when otherwise due, to provide a reasonable allowance during the remaining period of administration of the estate for the decedent's surviving spouse and dependent children, and to satisfy claims against the estate that are due and payable. In addition, the executor has made a reasonable effort to convert assets in the executor's possession (other than an interest in a closely held business to which section 6166 applies) into cash.

In general, an extension of time to pay will be granted only for the amount of the cash shortage. You must show on Part V the amount of the estate (and GST) tax (attach a copy of the return if it has already been filed; otherwise estimate the tax), the amount of the cash shortage, including a statement of the current assets already distributed, a plan for partial payments during the extension period, and the balance due. To avoid penalties and additional interest, you must pay any balance due with this form.

The IRS will complete Part VI and return a copy to the executor. If an approved application has different extension dates in Parts II, III, or IV, the IRS will return two copies to the executor. Attach one of the copies to the estate tax return that is filed. Submit the other copy with the separate payment. The part of the estate tax for which the extension is granted must be paid with interest from the estate tax due date before the expiration of the extension granted.

Note: An extension of time to pay does not extend the time to file.

Application Denied – Appeal Rights

If your application for extension of time to pay is denied, you may file a written appeal with the IRS. The appeal must:

- Be sent to the IRS official whose name appears at the bottom of page 2 of the Form 4768 denying the extension;
- Be sent by registered or certified mail, or be hand carried; and
- Be filed within 10 days after the denial is mailed to the executor.

The appeal is considered filed on the date it is postmarked. If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, file by the next business day.

Part V

Interest must be paid on any estate and GST tax that is not paid in full by the original due date of the tax return, regardless of whether an extension of time to file and/or pay has been obtained. For this reason, you should pay as much of the tax as possible by the original (not extended) due date of the return.

Paying the tax. Make the check or money order payable to the “United States Treasury.” Write the decedent’s (or qualified heir’s) social security number on the payment and the type of return; e.g., “Form 706.”
