Tax Exempt Bonds - Filing Requirements

The Internal Revenue Service, Tax Exempt & Government Entities (TE/GE) Operating Division offers specialized assistance to customers of tax exempt bonds. State and local officials can use this brochure as a quick reference to some of the more common filing requirement questions of tax exempt bond customers.

An estimated $1.5 trillion is currently invested in tax exempt bonds, which are typically issued by a government entity. These governmental customers are not subject to federal income tax at the entity level. They are, however, required to file certain returns as a result of issuing tax exempt bonds. The issuance of tax exempt bonds benefits a wide array of organizations representing a significant portion of the economic sector. These organizations have widely varying needs, different annual filing requirements, and minimum overlap in governing tax law.

Please see the enclosed chart on filing requirements (types of returns required to be filed and due dates for filing), procedures for filing a late return, and common errors to look out for when you file. Telephone numbers for assistance are also included in this brochure.

Procedures for Returns Filed Late

You may be granted an extension of time to file Forms 8038, 8038-G, or 8038-GC as long as the failure to file on time is not due to willful neglect. Please adhere to the following guidelines:

- Write on the top of the form:

This Statement is Submitted in Accordance with IRS Revenue Procedure 88-10.

- Attach a statement to the form explaining why your form was not timely submitted to the IRS, and
- Indicate whether the bond issue in question is under examination.

Request for Recovery of Overpayment of Arbitrage Rebate

In general, a request for recovery of overpayment of arbitrage rebate can be made when you can establish that an overpayment occurred.

Where to File

File all tax exempt bond returns and requests for recovery of overpayment of arbitrage rebate with the Internal Revenue Service Center at the following address.

Internal Revenue Service Center
Ogden, UT 84201

Signature

Your authorized representative must sign all tax exempt bond returns (IRS Forms 8038, 8038-G, 8038-GC, 8038-T, and 8328). The name and title of the person signing the return should be printed.

Common Errors

Please use the tips below as a checklist to prevent mistakes commonly made on Forms 8038, 8038-G, and 8038-GC.

Double Checks

Authorized Representative

Your authorized representative must sign the form and any applicable certification. Also, be sure to print the name and title of the person signing the Form 8038.

Employer Identification Number (EIN) and Name

Make consistent on the return.

Make certain that you enter the employer identification number (EIN) of the governmental entity that issued the bonds. (The EIN of the entity receiving the benefit should not be used.)

Issue Date

Enter on return.

You must enter the issue date on the return. The date of issue is generally the date on which you physically exchange the bond(s) for the underwriter's (or other purchaser's) funds. The date of issue for a lease arrangement is the date on which the arrangement first starts accruing interest.

Issue Price

Enter on return.

Generally, the issue price of bonds that are publicly offered is the first price at which a substantial amount of the bonds is sold to the public. Ten percent is a substantial amount. Please include the issue price on the return.

Maturity Date

Enter on return.

Please enter the last date that you must redeem the entire issue.

"Amended Return" Block on Return

Please do not check in error.

IRS research shows that in some cases a return is mistakenly checked as "amended," when in fact, it is more often an "original." Please be careful not to check "Amended Return," unless it is.

Explanation with a Late Return

Attach a request for an extension to file return.

If your return is filed late, you must have a statement attached setting forth the reason(s) why your return was not submitted timely to the IRS.
